

IMPLEMENTATIONS

When it comes to supporting system implementations, two qualifications are important above all others:
experience and objectivity.

We've worked at all levels of insurance companies. Some of us were IT people who learned insurance. Others of us are insurance people who learned IT. Either way, you get both from our staff of business analysts.

We can help with the implementation of an entire system, the addition of new functionality, or changes to an existing system. We support systems that have already been implemented but need attention to keep them running as intended. We've worked with systems from more than 20 different providers and can funnel that knowledge into success for you.

OUR IMPLEMENTATION SERVICES INCLUDE:

Documentation. Almost every failed or struggling implementation can be traced to issues with documentation. Complete specifications and fully defined requirements will help guide your vendor and provide the foundation against which to test. We'll help get your implementation right the first time.

Integrations: Insurance technology is filled with third-party integrations, and we have experience with many of them. Payment processors, underwriting data providers, print and mail vendors, and digital client communications are just a few examples. We can lead these projects for your organization or just provide guidance if you want to run these projects internally.

WHY MARIAS?

If you recognize the value experienced objectivity can bring to your insurance operations, call us today. You'll be surprised at how responsive a real service organization can be.

Call us today at 866-611-2212
or visit us online at www.mariastechnology.com